STUDENT UPDATE

Welcome to the first edition of the Ardmona PS student update, "Blast Off". This update is a space for students to share and celebrate their work from both school and at home - a space to celebrate student learning and success. If your child has something that they would like to share please forward onto one of our staff in person, via our Facebook page or email to Mrs Cosgriff (talía.cosgriff@education.vic.gov.au).

As always, we welcome any feedback and if you have any questions in relation to further support for your child and their learning please reach out!

Fun Fact

Parasaurolophus - can anybody pronounce this Dinosaur's name? Try saying this one 10 times quickly!

If you're keen to learn more about the Parasaurolophus, or just need help with the pronunciation (like Mrs C does) our champion student Fletcher is the king of facts!

Counting down to Spring - what this stunning picture illustrated by our talented Ruby!

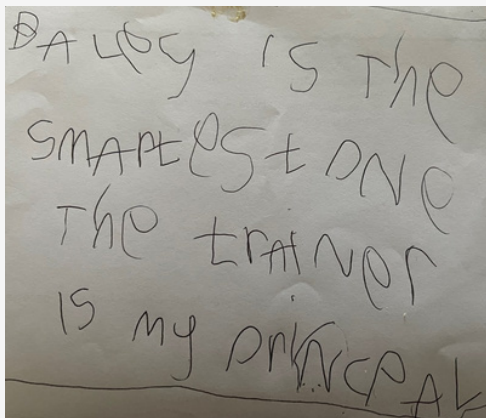

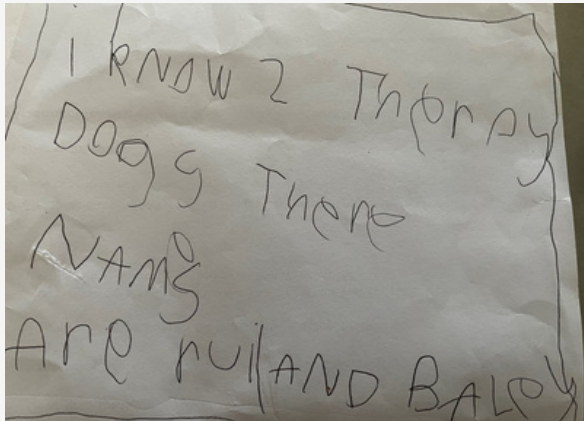

Joke of the Week

Thanks to our hilarious school "jokestar" Nate:

What do spies do when it rains?
They go undercover

Our Therapy Dog Rui says a big HELLO! She's been busy learning new tricks as she continues her training with Therapy Animals Australia and Dr Brad Rundle.

Exceptional handwriting by Grade 1 student David to update our families about our Therapy Dog. What outstanding vocabulary! Thanks for sharing David.

Fun Fact

Did you know that the Australian Olympians get paid when they win a medal?

Gold = $20,000

Silver = $15,000

Bronze = $10,000

"They must be rich!" - thanks Indi for researching this interesting fact.

Challenge!

How much prize money have the Australian Olympic Team earned to date? Use your multiplication skills to find out!

Duke confidently explained to other students and teachers how to train and support our Therapy Dog, Rui. Well done Duke - outstanding leadership!

Our super star Foundation student Jasmine checked in with Ms Varty before school about her wonderful weekend:

"I had a play on the weekend with Willow."
